BREAD & WINE INTENTION

The Bread and Wine

for the week of October 9, 2022

is offered In Loving Memory of

Sharon Alicea

Requested by The Zaccario Family

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Tuesday is the memorial for St. John XXIII (originally Angelo Roncalli, son of a peasant farming family from northern Italy), who was Pope from 1958-1963. He was already 77 when he was elected to succeed Pius XII, an aristocratic man of slender build. When Cardinal Roncalli was on his way to join the conclave that elected him, he overheard a lady remark, "My, look how fat he is!" He turned to her with a smile and his always-ready wit and said, "Madam, the conclave is not a beauty contest."

It was widely assumed that John XXIII would be a brief place-holder until a Pope of longer duration would emerge. But his five-year pontificate would be astonishingly influential: one of the most consequential in all the Church's history, especially since he shocked the Catholic world, including the hierarchy, by convening the ecumenical (or worldwide) council Vatican II, the first such gathering in nearly a hundred years and the most important one since the Council of Trent addressed the convulsion of the Reformation.

John also exerted an enormous impact by the great warmth and humor of his personality. His love for people, whether they were Catholic believers or not, was enormous and obvious, and soon expressed itself in whatever circumstance he found himself in.

He rose to the papacy after excelling first in pastoral work, then in a variety of diplomatic assignments in which he endeared himself to Orthodox Christians in Bulgaria (who, even years later, fondly remembered him as "the round one"), Muslims in Turkey, and, in the difficult times after World War II, Catholics in France.

Following his papal election, before he eliminated the papal chair that was carried by six attendants, John XXIII gave them a raise because he was so much heavier than his predecessor. He also ended the custom of the Pope's dining alone, relishing the company and conversation his new practice allowed. (He said that the old one made him "feel like a seminarian under punishment.") And until he died, he continued to keep the diary he had begun at age fourteen. Published after his death under the title Journal of a Soul, it is a wonderful insight into his traditional piety and deep spirituality, a true modern classic of the Catholic Faith.

By the way, the immensely worthwhile Catholic writer George Weigel has written an incisive book marking the 60th anniversary of the opening of the Second Vatican Council that will be released this month. It is called To Sanctify the World: The Vital Legacy of Vatican II (Basic Books)—and it is sure to feature the author's dependable gifts for astute analysis and clear synthesis.
