FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The Irish have an expression, “the wild geese.” It originally came from the poetry of Michael Joseph Barry and referred to soldiers who fought unsuccessfully to restore James II to his throne and who then fled to the European continent near the end of the 17th century. The term is also sometimes applied to other emigrants, for example, men who have followed the occupation of mercenary or people who have left their native land to pursue economic opportunities in other countries, including those who judged that they had little choice but to leave when the great Irish famine struck. But the Irish were great travelers long before that.

In the 12th century, and even considerably before that, many scholarly Irish monks went to Europe, founding or enriching monastic foundations in, among other places, Lindisfarne (England); Vienna, Prague; St. Gall (Switzerland); and in Würzburg, Nuremberg and Reichenau (Germany). The latter is on a beautiful island in Lake Constance, and is most famous for the presence of Blessed Herman the Cripple, who is traditionally credited with creating the beautiful “Hail, Holy Queen” prayer.

Reichenau owed its fame to Irish scholars. One of them left a notebook that contains delightfully human verses about the pet cat he kept:

I and Pangur Bán my cat,
‘Tis a like task we are at:
Hunting mice is his delight,
Hunting words I sit all night. ...

So in peace our task we ply,
Pangur Bán, my cat and I;
In our arts we find our bliss,
I have mine and he has his.

St. Paul has important verses right before his immortal description of love. They remind us that we all have contributions to make to the Body of Christ that is the Church—and they are far from exhaustive about what we can do to make it more effective:

Now you are Christ’s body, and individually parts of it. Some people God has designated in the church to be, first, apostles; second, prophets; third, teachers; then, mighty deeds; then gifts of healing, assistance, administration, and varieties of tongues.

(1 Cor 12, 27-28)

We should all be thinking of what we can do for Jesus Christ. Our efforts are needed.

Msgr. David Hubba

Please note the following correction in last week’s bulletin in An Important Letter From Our Pastor.

The second key point should be:

Sunday and Holyday collections totaled $591,567, which was $20,433 unfavorable to the budget and $20,333(3.3%) lower than the previous year.
